

FINDING LOVE OVER 40 50 60 AND BEYOND...

I am here to encourage you that love is possible over 40, 50, 60 and beyond.

Thank you so much for your interest in finding love in your latter years. I received an overwhelming response to my post about how I met my now husband online after years of unsuccessful online dating (see my Instagram post here). As I've written many times, it is not for the faint of heart. I was online four years before I met my husband, and even then, it wasn't easy. I was off and on many different dating sites for the four years mentioned and I would revamp my profile from time to time, but most of all through the years, I revamped myself. So, I posted my story for a reason and hence you are here for a reason.

There is no magic bullet there is no magic pill. I am not making any promises but I'm here to encourage you about the possibilities since you asked. I hope you find this guide helpful.

All the best on your journey!!

Below, as promised, I am sharing a few of the websites I found that were, in my opinion, better than others along with the one I met my husband on.
